Career Highlights

Automotive Industry Experience – Larry currently serves as Deloitte’s Lead Client Service Partner for services to General Motors Corporation, a role he took on beginning in April, 2001. Since that time he has been involved in many complex technical accounting, auditing and financial reporting matters, including the initial implementation of the requirements of Sarbanes-Oxley 404. Previously, during a five-year assignment based in Brussels, Larry served as the European Lead Client Service Partner for GM and GMAC. Larry also had a similar role serving Bridgestone/Firestone Europe while in Brussels. His experiences during that time included leading Deloitte’s due diligence work related to automotive client business combinations.

Other Large Multinational Client Service Experience – Immediately preceding his current assignment serving GM, Larry served as the Deloitte Lead Client Service Partner with overall responsibility for services provided to Monsanto Company. Monsanto is a leading global provider of agricultural herbicides, seeds and related genetic trait products. Prior to his assignment serving Monsanto, Larry served in a similar capacity for Hughes Electronics Corporation, a global provider of satellite-based telecommunications equipment and services.

International Experience – Larry has over ten years experience working with industrial multinationals in Europe on assignments in Belgium, Spain and Sweden. Most recently, while based in Brussels, Larry served as the European Lead Client Service Partner for several high visibility manufacturing industry clients: General Motors Europe, GMAC Europe, SAAB Automobile, Bridgestone/Firestone Europe, Monsanto Procter & Gamble, and Honeywell.

Technical Experience – During his four years of experience as a U.S. national accounting consultation manager and partner, Larry performed research and established D&T positions on complex and emerging accounting issues in many areas, supported clients in dealing with the SEC, published technical brochures and other materials, and participated in firm management initiatives.
